The Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Education, Heritage and Arts, Ms Anjeela Jokhan, was the chief guest at the event.

Mr Kumar, TTS CEO (Acting) and Asco Foundation Trustee says being part of the Toyota family, Asco Motors is firmly committed to Toyota’s and the UN Sustainable Development Goals. “Today, we are fulfilling one of the most important SDG goals, Goal 4 – Quality Education,” said Mr Kumar.

He further stated the importance of education could not be overestimated and firmly believes that education is the key to our young ones achieving a brighter future; whether through pursuing educational qualifications or just to become better citizens, education is vital.

Mr Kumar added “we hope to make a small difference to the children of these schools and assist them in reaching their educational goals.” He further thanked the team at Digicel and Bondwell for their support on this project.

Ms Jokhan stated the Ministry of Education is grateful to the Foundation for the assistance and showing interest in children’s education and wants Fiji to be on par with students around the globe.

The Foundation and TTS board, its management teams, and staff extend their best wishes to the schools for productive use of the laptops and data.
